

Graduate Certificate of Humanitarian Health at Deakin University

A new initiative bringing together studies in Humanitarian and the Health sectors.

International research shows gaps in health interventions and programs in humanitarian contexts relating to health service access, health assessments, coordination, accountability and health work safety.

Blanchet, K & Roberts, B (2015)
Report from Harvard School Public Health and the Overseas Development Institute

The Graduate Certificate of Humanitarian Health (GCHH) aims to address this gap by providing an avenue for meeting the educational needs of humanitarian health workers in Australia and internationally and those with a desire to gain knowledge and expertise to work in the humanitarian sector.

The GCHH will equip health professionals with the essential knowledge and skills to manage the public and clinical health needs/issues that emerge in complex humanitarian response contexts and other low resource environments. We would like to invite suitably qualified nurses, midwives and doctors to apply for the course.

To apply, visit deakin.edu.au
For more information, email
info@centreforhumanitarianleadership.org

The GCHH has been a result of the partnership between Deakin University and Save the Children with the support of GlaxoSmithKline.

**Image courtesy of Save the Children*

deakin.edu.au

Deakin University CRICOS Provider Code: 00113B

CENTRE FOR HUMANITARIAN LEADERSHIP

A Save the Children - Deakin Partnership

Graduate Certificate of Humanitarian Health at Deakin University

A new initiative bringing together studies in Humanitarian and the Health sectors.

International research shows gaps in health interventions and programs in humanitarian contexts relating to health service access, health assessments, coordination, accountability and health work safety.

Blanchet, K & Roberts, B (2015)
Report from Harvard School Public Health and the Overseas Development Institute

The Graduate Certificate of Humanitarian Health (GCHH) aims to address this gap by providing an avenue for meeting the educational needs of humanitarian health workers in Australia and internationally and those with a desire to gain knowledge and expertise to work in the humanitarian sector.

The GCHH will equip health professionals with the essential knowledge and skills to manage the public and clinical health needs/issues that emerge in complex humanitarian response contexts and other low resource environments. We would like to invite suitably qualified nurses, midwives and doctors to apply for the course.

To apply, visit deakin.edu.au
For more information, email
info@centreforhumanitarianleadership.org

The GCHH has been a result of the partnership between Deakin University and Save the Children with the support of GlaxoSmithKline.

**Image courtesy of Save the Children*

A Save the Children - Deakin Partnership

deakin.edu.au

Deakin University CRICOS Provider Code: 00113B

